

So there we have it: my whole journey with AI in 6 months all off my mobile phone and using my rog ally nothing else was used. So steps to do this

Step 1 - Upload Grimoire Codex

Step 2 - enter grimoire Prompt - with intent

Step 3 - wait a couple of minutes (literally)

Step 4 - refine to how you wish to go forward i.e have demos made, simulations, change to python, XtexT etc

Step 5 - HAVE FUN

I don't know if this will help people, or if this is a new way of doing things AI certainly thinks so but as I said from the start I came into this just wanting to make a cool ass anime story with mechs, vampires and making it meta.I do not know if these ACTUALLY work in the real world as I dont have any connections but if any one can tell me there is something here then I would be so happy to be informed.

Annnnnnnnnnd then it took a massive detour aha

My Name Is Troy Clarke. It is 5/1/2025 now my whole journey has been documented. I'm not a professor, not a magician, just a regular 41 year old guy who has a neurodivergent mind and a story teller heart. Go easy on me please internet I pretty much winged all this lmao but if you come this far by all means have a go yourself and message me or tell me new systems you've made. I said from the very start to myself once I realised what was happening If im going to make systems then let it be for healing and discovery.

Thank you for reading
